Why decentralization?

Most nations utilize the fiat currency model, where the currency value is backed by the central bank. Decentralized currencies forgo this model and give the control to the end-consumer without the influence of a central authority. Its value is determined purely by current demand and cannot be inorganically changed.

Decentralized currencies will insulate customers from excessive bank fees and aggressive bank policies as well as potential bank failures and collapses. With borderless payments, seamless and cheap international payments are assured despite current limits on normal currencies.

Immunity to inflation/ deflation

Decentralized currencies have no strict rules or guidelines for usage. The only requirement is the ability to obtain and use a wallet. As they are not subject to geographically based exchange rates, no devaluation will occur either.

Decentralized currency also serves as a stabilizing agent since it's free of national monetary policies. The vision of the New World Order Finance Eco System is to achieve this ultimate goal of decentralization of currency and totalization of the market.
